Could Democrats Replace Biden? (HINT: It's not up to them!)

Not likely, but theoretically possible.

Two things would have to happen:

1. Joe Biden would have to be removed from the re-election process. If this were to happen the far more likely scenario is that he pulls out voluntarily. It is possible (but would be an extreme long shot) that Biden could be removed via the 25th Amendment from his current position and that would end any reasonable chance of him running for re-election.
2. Democrats then hold an "Open Convention." Conventions used to be open until the 1970s when the current system of "binding" primaries took over. Current rules for the DNC mandate that the delegates are bound by the primary results at the convention. Moreover, because the idea of an open convention hasn't been a consideration for many years, the DNC doesn't really even have rules to address how an open convention would be run.

If Biden stands his ground and refuses to withdraw from the race, it would be virtually impossible for Democrats to prevent him from getting the nomination. In fact, delegates to the convention are in many cases legally bound to vote for Biden as he won primary elections.

There are many reasons why Biden will not be replaced. Let's explore the top two as the others really don't matter (for example, I doubt Jill wants to retire from high fashion and State Dinners to go back to Delaware and spoon feed Joe in-between diaper changes but while she is a valuable control asset for Klaus, she is not a "shot caller").

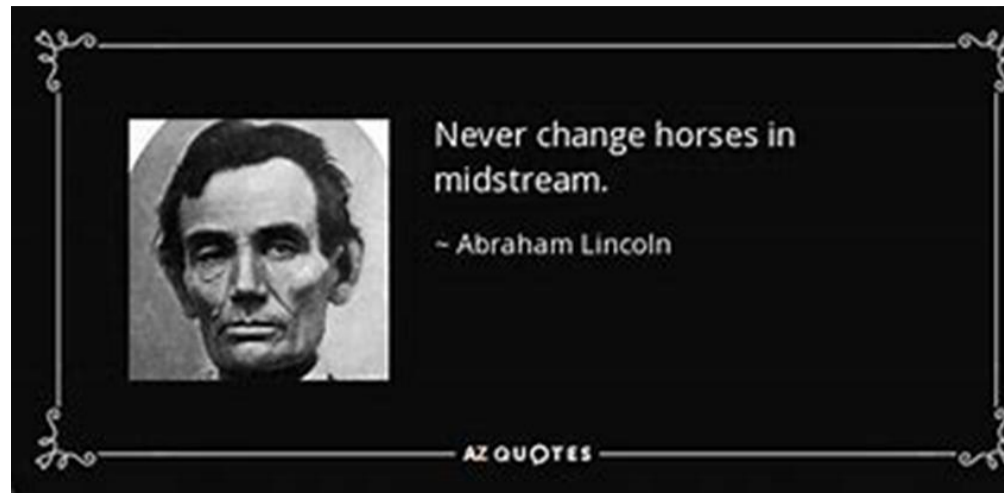

Globalists Like Biden And Want to Continue to Use Him

First and most important, Biden is the ultimate puppet and together with empty suit Kamala Harris, the globalists that own them both do not need to worry about their servants going "off reservation" one bit. They are nothing but window dressing for the powers behind the throne and so long as the globalists think that Americans will accept this, they will let it play out. Biden is indeed a "Manchurian candidate."

Klaus Schwab & Joe Biden

If Joe Biden suddenly decides to “voluntarily” pull out of the race, it will ONLY be because Klaus and the international financial elite have made the decision to pull him. Joe Biden is not in charge of the White House. In fact, based on what we witnessed at the debate last week, its fair to say Joe Biden is not competent to be in charge of lunch.

A Political Axiom as True Today as it was 100 Years Ago

The globalists are a careful lot and not given to knee jerk reactions. So, while there are many Democrats in America that are convulsing about the Joe Biden debate performance, the globalists know there is a lot of time in between now and the convention. There are still issues related to the trump sentencing and other felony charges that he is facing. And the flash post-debate polling numbers are not hugely supportive of the “replace Biden” narrative as it relates to electability against Trump.

The controlled national media is reporting the following talking points:

The national post-debate poll, released Friday, was conducted among 2,068 registered voters. Overall, the respondents favored Biden over Trump 45 to 44 percent. Here are the top-line takeaways, per Morning Consult's summary:

- While our post-debate survey shows President Joe Biden has lost no immediate ground to Trump, most voters, including a 47% plurality of Democrats, say Biden should be replaced as the Democratic candidate for president.
- A clear majority of debate-viewing voters (57%) say Trump performed best on Thursday, including 19% of Democrats, 60% of independents and 93% of Republicans.
- The Biden campaign viewed last night's debate as another opportunity to assuage concerns about his age and mental acuity, but that didn't work: Among debate viewers, 78% say Biden is too old, compared with 64% of all voters who said the same days before the debate.

The globalists are getting exactly what they want with the Biden Harris administration. It should therefore be considered an extreme long shot that bite is replaced. The opinions of rank and file Democrats on this issue are of absolutely no consequence whatsoever.

The Open Convention

Today, political conventions are little more than coronations. The last conventions that had a semblance of being open were 1968 for the Democrats and 1976 for the Republicans. Both were “wild west” like events in which the globalists nearly lost control over their preferred presential candidate. They have been hard at work to make sure nothing like that ever happens again. Especially as they actually lost a convention in 1964 to Barry Goldwater who had defeated Nelson Rockefeller behind grassroots political activists at the convention.

Globalists Do Not Want to See This Again

A review of articles from the liberal left over this past weekend has yielded a consistent condemnation of the idea of holding an open convention. In unison the leftist media has been the crying an open convention concept as being too dangerous and too divisive and too close to the election.

In the unlikely event Biden does step down, the globalist elite will do everything they possibly can to manage the convention in such a way as to avoid any idea of it being open and instead simply try to make it a coronation of their favored replacement.

The Week Prior to Convention “Virtual Nomination”

One minor wrinkle deals with a “virtual nomination” that is set to occur prior to the convention. Because of a quirk in Ohio law which had required all candidates to be legally certified by Aug. 7—more than a week ahead of Biden’s scheduled nomination at the convention that opens in Chicago on Aug. 19—Democrats are set to formally nominate Biden in a virtual roll call weeks before the convention. (Ohio lawmakers recently passed a law to iron out that quirk, but the DNC has said that the virtual roll call will continue just to be safe.)

Post Convention Options

Under Rule 8, Section G, of the Call for the Democratic National Convention, if the presidential and/or vice presidential nominee dies, resigns, or becomes disabled after the convention, “the National Chairperson of the Democratic National Committee shall confer with the Democratic leadership of the United States Congress and the Democratic Governors Association and shall report to the Democratic National Committee, which is authorized to fill the vacancy or vacancies.”

Once the nomination is decided at the convention, though, only the nominee can choose to bail. The party can’t do it. The party may have second thoughts about their nominee, but if Biden refuses to drop out, there’s little to be done other than perhaps applying extraordinary pressures like cutting off the DNC’s bankroll and other resources to urge him to change his mind. Once the gavel falls, Democrats are stuck with Biden if he still has a pulse.

Potentially the globalists could wait until after the convention and then pursue a replacement through these means, however such action would take place so close to the election so as to cause too high a threshold of unknowns.

Let Trump Win?

It is not outside the realm of possibilities that the globalists are looking at the current environment and realize that it's simply better to let Trump win. The reality is that Trump has been endorsing globalist aligned politicians all over the country. People like Mike Rogers in Michigan, John McGuire in Virginia, Tim Sheehy in Montana and so many more that are not just bad, they are long time vetted WHORES for the globalists.

Even if trump won in 2024, he has so thoroughly handicapped himself by once again bringing in Mike Pence type traitors that will most surely sabotage his agenda at every turn.

Additionally, the globalists have already hedged their bets by engineered a financial “poison pill” in the form of a repudiation by Saudi Arabia of the petrodollar agreement.

For a few dollars less: The quiet demise of the petrodollar agreement

Synopsis

The USD hegemony is unravelling, and the global financial order is moving towards a new era led by BRICS-plus countries. Hard commodities-based blockchain-enabled digital currencies will challenge the dollar's dominance and its power dynamics through transparency and inherent strength. How this will play out in gaining legitimacy and acceptance will determine our lives over the next decade.

Inflation in the United States would be much worse if it wasn't for the fact that it was in effect exported. What that means is that foreign countries that seek to buy oil from Saudi Arabia must first buy U.S. dollars with their own currency to then purchase oil from Saudi Arabia in U.S. dollars. Because Saudi Arabia has required this form of payment it has forced many foreign countries to buy massive amounts of US currency. Because this US currency is taken out of the domestic marketplace, quantitative easing of currency through which the United States economy has gone through many rounds does not have nearly the same inflationary impact as would be the case if the petrodollar system was not in place. (It should be remembered that inflation IS NOT rising prices. It is the result of more units of currency chasing the same number of goods or services).

Worse, because energy is such a critical strategic resource for nations, most nations have a massive reserve of US currency. Once these reserves are no longer needed to protect vital strategic interests, we will see a flood of that currency back into the domestic marketplace.

That is the poison pill.

The globalists may allow Trump to win and after about a year or so into his administration they can open the floodgates of foreign held US currency and drive inflation rates well over 20% if not into ultra destructive hyperinflation. And of course, the media will hang all of that on Donald Trump.

They will harass and delay and investigate until the four years is up and then get back to business as usual.

This does not need to be the narrative of how our country gets thrown to the dustbins of history. But it will be if a sufficient number of Americans don't care enough to be involved.

Get educated and get active in your community!

Use these guiding principles to form your team:

We believe the American system of government, a constitutional Republic, is the finest ever developed by man.

We believe the traditional moral values of our Judeo-Christian heritage form the cornerstone of western civilization and that the family is the most vital unit of society.

We believe the free market system, competitive capitalism, and private enterprise afford the widest opportunity and highest standard of living for all.

We believe in the dignity of the individual. We welcome people from all ethnic racial and religious backgrounds judging others only by character and ability - as we wish to be judged ourselves - our common bond is a love for liberty and our rejection of totalitarianism under any label.

We believe that individual rights are endowed by our creator, not government; that the government's function should be limited to protecting our right to life, liberty, and property; and that individual rights are inseparably linked to individual responsibility.

The fight continues!
